Cow Horse Days: June 28-29

One Day Show at Latigo: August 30

Fall Show: September 19-21

President's Corner,

Greetings friends! Rain, rain and more rain! Everything is sure pretty and green but my horseman friends are hoping for a break so the farmers can get their hay cut, baled and in the barn. This has been a strange spring but hopefully the sun will come out and really be spring

Condolences to friends and family of our longtime Club Member and Show Secretary Jo-Anne Read who passed last week. Jo-Anne was the lovely lady that worked the show office of so many CAHC and Region 8 Shows, distinguished by her English accent. Jo-Anne was a devoted Club Member, winner of Volunteer of the Year and friend to many of us for many years....RIP dear friend.

Also get well wishes to the CAHC Immediate Past-President and renowned Horse Show Judge and Trainer, Chuck Mangan. Chuck suffered a fall which required surgery followed by other complications. He is doing better now so continue to get better Chuck. I also just got out of the hospital following a bout of pneumonia requiring four days in intensive care. I'm home and recovering now and thanks to all that called to wish me well.

So much for the bad news! Good news is that the No Frills Classis Show was a success with a good turnout and a fun show. Thanks to Show Managers Jim Hitt and Cheryl McMahon on a job well-done. Reports are that the Regional Shows have been small but with good quality horses being shown. The By-Laws changes were approved by Club members by a vote of 25-4. The newly amended By-Laws are available the CAHC web page if you care to read them.

We are on our way to Region 6 this week so safe travels and good luck to the CAHC members showing in Douglas, Wy.

We look forward to seeing you at the Cow Horse Days show coming up as well as the Latigo Show and the CAHC Fall Show. Lots to come so good luck and hope to see you soon!

Fond regards,

Jerry Martinez

Southern Division:

The Southern Division mourns the loss of our dear friend and very dedicated member, JoAnne Read.

JoAnne has been the Southern Division Treasurer and Latigo Show Secretary for many years. She has also been Show Secretary for all the CAHC Shows and Region 8 Show as well as "Cow Horse Days" until recently when she had to move to North Carolina to live with her son and his wife after the death of her husband John.

JoAnne's passing has left a big void in our Division and the lives of all of us who knew and loved her. She was a very thoughtful, kind and generous person. We will all miss her. RIP JoAnne.

Liz

In Loving Memory of JoAnne Read

The Colorado Arabian Horse Club is deeply saddened to share the passing of our longtime member and dear friend, JoAnne Read.

JoAnne was a cherished part of the CAHC family for decades, serving as Show Secretary for countless CAHC events, Region 8, and the Latigo Show. Her warm presence—always accompanied by her unmistakable English accent—welcomed exhibitors in show offices across the region and became a comforting constant for horse show exhibitors.

Beyond her dedication to the Arabian horse community, JoAnne was a passionate animal lover who cared deeply for her beloved dogs, cats, chickens, and, of course, her beautiful Arabian horses.

She now joins her beloved husband, John, and leaves behind a legacy of kindness, service, and friendship that has touched so many. Our lives and our club are better because JoAnne was part of them. She will be profoundly missed.

We extend our heartfelt condolences to all who knew and loved JoAnne. May she rest in peace, pain free, and forever remembered.

With love and gratitude,
The Colorado Arabian Horse Club

Revised 05/27/21

In Depth: Sally Randle and Randle Performance Horses

Randle Performance Horses is one of the three barns that are officially recommended by the CAHC to potential students for training with their Arabian horses. There is good reason why we, the CAHC, choose to recommend those three barns due to the high quality of the instructors in each facility. In this particular case, Sally Randle and Diane Underwood are two outstanding Arabian horse trainers and instructors. Sally came to know horses very early in life. Her mother was a staunch equestrian who rode her horse the day before Sally was born and the day after Sally was born. Sally went on to ride her own horse as a toddler. However, when she was five years old she suffered a nasty riding accident which put her off riding for about three years. She got her confidence back when she was eight years old. She not only continued riding but she also began showing which she has continued to do to this day. When she was nine years old she was the reserve champion in the open Arabian native costume class at that time. She did all types of horseback riding including Western, English, obstacles and so on. Her horse as a child and adolescent was "Donnie". Early on, she rode with Chuck and Lori Mangan. She begged her mother to send her to the nationals as an adolescent. Unfortunately, Donnie became ill and they were unable to compete. Her father bought her a Park Horse when she was 18 whom she rode for years after. She matriculated into Colorado State University equine science and pre-vet. She considered being a veterinarian, but she loved showing so much she preferred to establish her career as a trainer. She worked with the brothers Eugene and Ray LaCroix who are fantastic horse trainers. She also worked at the Littleton Large Animal Clinic. After graduation from college, she worked with Nick and Joni Mangeris as well as Jim Hitt. Eventually she moved to Franktown and established her own stables. Her business was extremely successful and her clientele exploded to 40 horses in the late 90s. The majority of her students were teenage girls. She worked at the Wolf Springs Ranch in Scottsdale for six years. Tom Redmond, who owned the ranch, was a wealthy patron of equestrian activities. He made huge contributions to the sport of reining. Unfortunately he died in early April of this year. After six years in Scottsdale, she moved back to Centennial Colorado and worked with Steve Grove. At that point she and her husband Tyson established the business: Randle Performance Horses. She and Tyson moved to Kiowa and established the current facility there. The ranch is located 6 miles east of Kiowa on Colorado State Highway 86. In addition to raising her two children, she ran this huge equestrian business. Obviously that was quite stressful but she was quite successful at it. She was named the Hunter Trainer of the Year by the Arabian Horse Times in 2015. Sally has won many awards over the years. As a youth rider, she was inducted into the Youth Rider Hall of Fame. She was a United States Equestrian Federation champion, as well.

Diane Underwood joined Sally in Kiowa about three years ago. At that time, Diane graciously accepted me as one of her students since my previous instructor had just retired from teaching. It has been a very positive experience for me to see both Sally and Diane do their fantastic work with their horses there in Kiowa. Diane watches over Guinness and me at all the horse shows which we appreciate (and need) immensely.

Med/Vet The Hock (tarsus, gambrel)

Stephen J Bishop MD

Michael Scott DVM (North Denver Animal Clinic and Large Animal Veterinarian to the NWSS since 1998)

the Hock in the rear legs of a horse is the human equivalent of the ankle. Will

From American Farrier's Journal

The term hock derives from Old English "hough" meaning to hamstring the horse. In ancient warfare this was a common defense against cavalry to handicap a knight's steed by severing the tendons and ligaments surrounding the hock. Tarsus, you may recall from a previous newsletter, comes from the Greek word meaning ankle which also happens to be the name of an ancient Greek city which is located at the bend or elbow in the southern coast of what is now Turkey. As you can see from this diagram above, the hock is the equivalent of the human ankle elevated to about midway between the foot in the hip. In primates, the ankle is located adjacent to the ground. In quadrupeds, this ankle is located much higher in the leg which offers the quadruped a tremendous advantage in pushing forward at great speed. The cheetah is the fastest land animal up to 75 miles an hour. A human's maximum speed is about 25 miles an hour. Bipedal birds and dinosaurs such as the ostrich and Tyrannosaurus rex have an elevated ankle which permits them speeds about double that of humans.

The hock includes a number of joints and bones all of which can produce disease. As you can imagine, the hock absorbs a tremendous amount of force and tension when the horse is at a full gallop.

Capped hock: caused by the creation of a false bursa which is a synovial sack underneath the skin caused by trauma. Synovium is a slippery surface that reduces friction and joints and ligaments. This bursa is usually benign but it can be crippling in the horse if the bursa is associated with the calcaneus which is the equivalent of our heel bone.

Osteochondrosis: this term derives from the two words meaning bone and cartilage. It is a possible developmental defect in the cartilage and bone of the carpal joint. This condition is usually discovered when the horse is fairly young.

Bog Spavin: bog, as in a spongy nodule located on the anterior of the hock joint. Spavin means swelling. This also is a developmental condition aggravated by chronic trauma. The to BAO tarsal joint develops inflammation leading to increased synovial tissues and fluid. It does not necessarily cause lameness in a horse but it can.

Bone Spavin: this is an actual degeneration of the tarso-metatarsal joint.

Curb: this is an inflammation of the plantar ligament at the posterior aspect of the hock. This often causes swelling and pain. This is usually the result from chronic stress and trauma.

Thoroughpin: this is a distention of the tendon sheath at the posterior aspect of the hock causing a puffy swelling. Again, this is usually associated with chronic trauma.

Symptoms of hock disorder: lameness, stiffness in the hindquarters, reduce range of motion, swelling or heat in the hock area, shortened stride, shifting weight her reluctance to engage the hind end

Diagnosis of hock disorders usually amounts to a combination of physical examination and x-rays. Sometimes an ultrasound of the hock can be helpful.

Treatment: anti-inflammatory agents, rest and rehabilitation, joint supplements, steroid injections into the hock. Surgery can be done but it is rare.

Prevention of hock disorder: proper training and conditioning is the best way to avoid hock disorders. Appropriate healthcare is essential. Excessive Rocky or uneven ground canned aggravate inflammation in the hock.
